Farm to table process to be discussed at next Lunch and Learn event

The Livingston County Farm Bureau and Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce are hosting the second Lunch and Learn — Ag Edition to answer questions regarding the path that food takes before it comes to the dinner table.

Matt Kilgus, manager for Kilgus Farmstead, will share the story of his family's farm and what it takes to produce the food many people enjoy.

He will also discuss how Kilgus markets and sells its products to surrounding area stores and costumers.

Raghela Scavuzzo, Illinois Farm Bureau local foods program manager, will talk about what "local" means, trends she is seeing and what markets farmers can sell to.

Murray McLean, County Market Produce manager, will talk about the grocery store's process for selecting, buying and working with farmers.

This program will be held on Friday, June 29, at noon, at the Hampton Inn, 2000 Grand Prix Dr., Pontiac.

Lunch will be provided and attendance is free for Farm Bureau members. Chamber members are $10 and all other attendees are

Event organizers hope the community will attend this informational program and find time to network with fellow community leaders and professionals.

The Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce will offer additional Lunch and Learn programs throughout the year. Topics will include time management skills, active shooter awareness and how to make the most of an iPhone.

Reservations are required. Call 815-844-5131 or email Deb Howard at DHoward@pontiacchamber.org.

Master Gardener training available

University of Illinois Extension and Livingston County Master Gardeners invite those eager to learn about growing vegetables, landscaping, trees, insects, or community and school gardening to join their volunteer training program this fall, for a mind-blowing garden learning experience.

The Master Gardener training program meets every Thursday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., starting Aug. 23 through Nov. 8 ending with our propagation lab. The cost of the training, including the Master Gardener training manual and all classes, is $225. Financial assistance may be available to qualified individuals, please contact us with questions.

The Extension office will be accepting applications for the 2018 Livingston County Master Gardener Training class through July 20. Class size is limited and a background check is required. Trainees should have the ability to attend all training classes, and the desire to share and teach horticulture throughout your commu-
